

Full Justification of a Partial Line
WordPerfect Magazine
Tips

I frequently get requests for a way to retain full justification for the last line of a column or for a line in the middle of a paragraph that has been broken by a hard return or page break. A quick little macro to force the line to justify is included as JUSTLINE.WPM.

To use the macro, go to the very end of the line needing to be justified. Press Macro (Alt-F10), type "justline" and press (Enter). If you are using a line spacing other than the default (single), you need to change the 1 in line two of the macro to your line-spacing number.

– Stephen G. Brown, Dallas, TX